The 2023-2024 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) stipulates certain requirements you must meet to qualify for financial aid as an independent student. If you do not meet the criteria, you must be evaluated as a dependent student, meaning your parents must provide information. There are circumstances that may warrant re-evaluation of the student's status. The following information and documentation is required in order for the Office of Financial Aid to consider a change in status. Do not omit any information or documentation, as this will delay consideration of your dependency evaluation. Your request will be reviewed and a decision will be made within 30 days after submission.

- This request for a dependency change is for the 2023-2024 school year only.
- You must answer all questions listed below. Attach a separate sheet of paper if necessary.
- You cannot be considered an independent student if you are living with a parent.
- The fact you have moved out of your parent's home does not qualify you as an independent student, nor does the fact that you are financially self-supporting.
- The fact your parents do not choose to support you does not qualify you as an independent student.
- The fact your parents do not claim you as an exemption on their federal income tax does not qualify you as an independent student.
- The fact that you "do not get along" with your parents or your parents refuse to provide their information does not qualify you as an independent student.
- The Office of Financial Aid may require additional documentation.

1. Please explain why you feel you should be considered independent. Explain the situation with your parents. Why are you unable or feel you should not be required to provide parent information on your FAFSA? Attach additional sheets if necessary:
