HEERF III Requirements and Procedures

Unlike the CARES Act, which funded the first emergency grants to students in 2020, the Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act, 2021 (CRRSA), and the American Rescue Plan of 2021 (ACT) require that institutions prioritize students with exceptional need, such as students who receive Pell Grants. However, students do not need to be Pell recipients or eligible for Pell grants to be identified as having exceptional need. Individuals are eligible for emergency financial aid grants from the HEERF, regardless of whether they completed a FAFSA or are eligible for Title IV.

The NMJC application process asks students to identify and attest to their need as a result of the coronavirus in order to prioritize awards. Additionally, to meet this requirement, NMJC has developed a tiered system to distribute the emergency grants to students while funding is available.

Tier 1 - Fall 2021 Pell eligible students received a $1,500 distribution, no application necessary.

Tier 2 – Fall 2021 students that have submitted a FAFSA, have an Estimated Family Contribution (EFC) of $100 or less, and were not included in Tier 1 distributions received a $1,500 distribution, no application necessary.

Tier 3 - The remaining funds are available for students who are or were enrolled at NMJC on or after the date of the declaration of the national emergency due to the coronavirus (March 13, 2020). Students may submit a request for these emergency funds by completing an application.

Students who receive the Tier 1 or Tier 2 distributions are eligible to apply for Tier 3 funds.

Emergency financial aid grants may be used by students for any component of their cost of attendance or for emergency costs that arise due to coronavirus, such as tuition, food, housing, health care (including mental health care) or child care. Students determine how they may use their emergency financial aid grant within the allowable uses.

Criteria

Students are eligible for ACT HEERF III funding if they have been enrolled at NMJC at any point since March 13, 2020.

The following guidance was distributed to students via the College website, email, and social media related to HEERF III funds:
